[1] Estimated Balance Sheets as of September 30, 2018 and June 30, 2018.

[2] The total units issued and outstanding used in the computation of net asset value per unit is the estimated amount of units immediately prior to redemptions that are processed and effective on September 30, 2018 and June 30, 2018, respectively, as the NAV per unit price is used to determine the redemption price in certain cases under our redemption plan.

On October 1, 2018, the Company announced that its net asset value per unit (“NAV”) as of September 30, 2018 is $10.00 per unit of our Common Units. This NAV per common unit shall be effective until updated by us on or about December 31, 2018 (or as soon as commercially reasonable thereafter), unless updated by us prior to that time.

As described in the section titled “Valuation Policies” of our Offering Circular, our goal is to provide a reasonable estimate of the market value of our Class A units on a quarterly basis using a process that reflects (1) estimated values of each of our real estate assets and investments, including related liabilities, provided in individual appraisal reports or internal valuation assessments of the underlying real estate, as they may be updated upon certain material events described below, (2) accruals of our quarterly or other periodic distributions, and (3) estimates of quarterly accruals, on a net basis, of our operating revenues, expenses and fees. Our goal is to provide a reasonable estimate of the market value of our Class A Units on a quarterly basis. However, the majority of our assets will consist of real estate loans and, as with any real estate valuation protocol, the conclusions reached by our Managing Member will be based on a number of judgments, assumptions and opinions about future events that may or may not prove to be correct. The use of different judgments, assumptions or opinions would likely result in different estimates of the value of our real estate assets and investments. In addition, for any given quarter, our published NAV per Class A Unit may not fully reflect certain material events, to the extent that the financial impact of such events on our portfolio is not immediately quantifiable. As a result, the quarterly calculation of our NAV per Class A Unit may not reflect the precise amount that might be paid for a Class A Units in a market transaction, and any potential disparity in our NAV per Class A Unit may be in favor of either members who redeem their Class A Units, or members who buy new Class A Units, or existing members. However, to the extent quantifiable, if a material event occurs in between quarterly updates of NAV that would cause our NAV per Class A Unit to change by 5% or more from the last disclosed NAV, we will disclose the updated price and the reason for the change in an offering circular supplement as promptly as reasonably practicable, and will update the NAV information provided on our website.

Our Manager’s internal accountants calculated our NAV per Class A Unit using a process that reflects (1) estimated values of each of our commercial real estate assets and investments, including related liabilities, which may be updated upon the occurrence of certain material events, (2) quarterly updates in the price of liquid assets for which third party market quotes are available, (3) accruals of our distributions payable at the end of the quarter related to the current or previous quarters, and (4) estimates of quarterly accruals, on a net basis, of our operating revenues, expenses and fees.

We generally receive financial and other reporting from our borrowers or unconsolidated subsidiaries on a monthly basis, so the estimated values of each of our commercial real estate assets and investments included on each NAV reporting date are generally based on the latest financial and other information reported to us or otherwise available to us, which has been rolled forward through the NAV reporting date for accruals and other items. For investments made within the previous or current quarter where we have not received our first set of reporting data from our investments, our NAV is generally based on the information we used during our regular underwriting processes and in consideration of other market data available to us. We are not aware of any events that would have a material impact on the estimated values included herein that occurred between the date of the latest information we received with respect to our investments and the NAV reporting date.

Beginning on October 1, 2018 the per unit purchase price of our Common Units will be $10.00 per unit. This price per unit shall be effective until the next announcement of price per unit by the Company, which is expected to happen within a commercially reasonable time after December 31, 2018, unless updated by us prior to that time. Redemptions of Common Units shall be made pursuant to our redemption plan based on the then-current NAV per Common Unit.

Unit Redemption Plan Status

During the quarter ended September 30, 2018, $ 70,000 redemptions were requested, and payment is made.

Historical NAV Information

Below is the quarterly NAV per common unit, as determined in accordance with our valuation policies, for each fiscal quarter from March 31, 2018 to September 30, 2018.

Date	NAV Per Unit
March 31, 2018	$10.00
June 30, 2018	$10.00
September 30, 2018	$10.00

Update to September 2018 Distribution

On September 30, 2018, daily distribution of $0.0002222 per unit (September 2018 Daily Distribution Amount) is decided for unitholders of record as of the close of business on each day of the period commencing on September 1, 2018 and ending on September 30, 2018 (September 2018 Distribution Period). As of September 30, 2018, the September 2018 Daily Distribution Amount equates to approximately 8% on an annualized basis calculated at the current rate, assuming a $10.00 per unit purchase price.
